Editorial

We often wish that our receiving room could be arranged on the street floor, with glass windows, so that the public could see this most interesting of all departments.

It is through this section that ALL the merchandise sold in the entire store must pass.

Sometimes the boxes are piled almost to the ceiling at this time of the year with the thousands and thousands of dollars' worth of "needs" and "wants" for our patrons.

From the receiving room the merchandise is sent to the stock rooms of the various departments, where it is given a thorough examination by the person who bought it. If not up to sample it is immediately sent back to the maker.

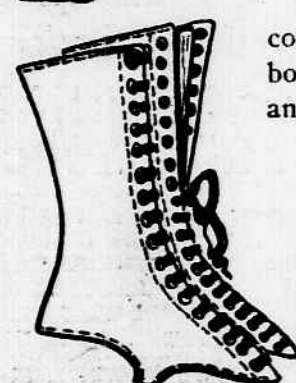

But, if O. K., it is marked and put on the shelves of the sections to which it belongs. There you find it on your various visits to the store.
